OPTIONAL INFORMATION

About 2,500 known varieties of apples are grown in the United States. More than 7,500 are grown worldwide. So the old saying of getting an "apples to apples" comparison has new meaning in our modern society. Variation in human learning is as vast as varieties of apples grown worldwide. Each learning style is unique, rich in substance, and just as valid as any other. The MESD plays a key role in the education of our most precious resources, our children. Just because a child has a disability, they deserve to have an worthwhile education experience that is respectful and allows them to reach their maximum potential.

Why Elect Robert R. Weaver?

Education IS Special, and every child deserves the right to learn to their potential and yet I realize funds are limited and we don't have enough resources to customize an education plan for each and every student. The administrators we elect, hire and entrust our children's education attempt to reach a delicate balance between limited funds and levels of service. The members of the MESD board are charged with tremendous responsibility and we need its members to be well rounded, and they cannot forget the children who are challenged with disabilities. Over the course of my career in private business as Chief Financial Officer for various businesses, I've managed to accomplish the mission of the organizations I've served, all the while, working within the limits of financial resources. I believe in working in teams rather than taking it on alone, and I ask for your support to put me on the MESD Board of Directors so we can use our limited resources and accomplish the awesome task of making education a special experience for all of our children.
